Staff from Children's Lighthouse of Fate celebrated their opening with a ribbon cutting held last Friday.

Children's Lighthouse Early Learning Schools last Friday celebrated its newest campus in Fate with a ribbon-cutting.

Children's Lighthouse of Fate – located at South Farm-to-Market Road 551 and owner Emily Fernando said she expects the facility to address “the growing demand for quality child care in Fate.

With more than a decade of ownership experience, Fernando said she is steadfast in her commitment to delivering top education, safety and a nurturing environment with a strong emphasis on family-centric values.

“We are thrilled to expand Children's Lighthouse into new regions of Texas and have dedicated entrepreneurs like Emily exemplify our mission to enrich local communities with quality education and care,” said Michael Brown, president of Children's Lighthouse

Early Learning Schools. "We eagerly anticipate serving the Fate community and encourage the development of every child we have the privilege to educate."

Company officials say Children's Lighthouse partners with parents to develop children through three age-appropriate curriculums designed with the specific needs of children in mind.
